two strings and two percussions

eva-maria houben

2017

for morgan, laura, james and luke strings:

very high noise-like natural partials.

percussions:

unpitched sounds.

all sounds soft and delicate.

first sound: one player; sometimes the one, sometimes the other performer.

second sound: the other players.

repeat a whole time – ad libitum.

listening to beethoven:

while performing I stand still again and again. time and again I fall into new places to stand still: and now? what now? what's on now?

I am taking part in a process, wandering to unknown landscapes.
