alle klänge flageolett und ottava.

molto legato, quasi glissando.

jeder spieler bildet für sich mit klängen aus dem angegebenen ambitus eine melodie, die aus max. acht einzelklängen besteht. die einzelklänge bleiben beim spiel molto legato klar differenzierbar.

ein spieler beginnt, dann setzen die anderen frei ein; jeder spielt seine melodie bei etwa gleich langer dauer der einzeltöne und ohne pausen so, dass die spielzeit insgesamt eine minute nicht wesentlich überschreitet.

die spieler müssen nicht gleichzeitig aufhören.

all sounds flageolet and transposed up by one octave.

molto legato, quasi glissando.

each player forms – with sounds in the given ambit – a melody consisting of at most eight single sounds. the single sounds remain – even playing molto legato – clearly distinguishable.

one player begins, the other players follow freely.

each player plays his melody (nearly the same duration of each sound, no pauses) in such a way that the performance does not last longer than approximately one minute.

the players need not finish simultaneously.

on the whole soft.

The image displays four musical staves, each with a treble clef and a central C-clef. Each staff contains a pair of notes with arrows indicating the interval between them. The notes and intervals are as follows:

- Staff 1: A note with a dot on the first line (C4) and a note with a dot on the second line (D4). A double-headed arrow is positioned between them, indicating a second interval.
- Staff 2: A note with a dot on the second line (D4) and a note with a dot on the third line (E4). A double-headed arrow is positioned between them, indicating a second interval.
- Staff 3: A note with a dot on the second line (D4) and a note with a dot on the fourth line (F4). A double-headed arrow is positioned between them, indicating a third interval.
- Staff 4: A note with a dot on the second line (D4) and a note with a dot on the fifth line (G4). A double-headed arrow is positioned between them, indicating a fourth interval.
